

HTTP TRANSACTION MONITOR

ABSTRACT

An apparatus for monitoring data flow in a web application includes a data collector which collects data about transactions on a server that hosts components of the web application. The transactions on the server are initiated through an 5 HTTP request from a client. The apparatus further includes a graphical display which displays the collected data.

16159 002001.20001115.01.doc